Senior Mobile Software Engineer

ABOUT ME

Hello there! I'm András, an enthusiastic 26 years old Mobile Software Engineer with a rich professional background and experience both in executive and managerial positions. Apart from the professional side, I have a pure and genuine passion for digital content creation, with a particular emphasis on drone photography. The inner drive I have for becoming better at practicing my profession every day and the thirst for exploring innovative technology in the field of photography are the two characteristics that essentially define me.

In everyday work, I feel most comfortable while working on native Android & iOS App Development, but I am always more than willing to get accustomed to new tech that opens the way for new start-up-like ideas. And talking about the start of something new, I believe that I possess the ideas, the resources, and the right attitude for being a real catalyst in the initial (and most difficult) phase of new projects.
